

For Immediate Release

November 13, 2003

Iverson Attends the 44th Annual ATA Conference

Iverson Language Associates, Inc. recently returned from the 44th Annual ATA Conference held in Phoenix, Arizona. The conference was an excellent opportunity for translators and those involved in all aspects of the translation industry to convene and take advantage of a variety of educational sessions.

A long-standing member of the ATA, Iverson was pleased to attend the conference from an education standpoint and a networking standpoint. "It's a good chance for industry specialists to discuss important topics about our business," cited Steve Iverson.

Special forums held this year at the ATA Conference included sessions on translation support tools, mentoring in the industry, health care and divisional meetings.

For more information on the ATA, please logon to www.atanet.org.